SUBJECT: UPDATED BUDGET PAGES

DATE: 11/3/11

The attached budget pages have updated 2012 information. The changes are primarily due to the approval of the Medical Marijuana Tax on November 1, 2011. Below is an explanation of the changes:

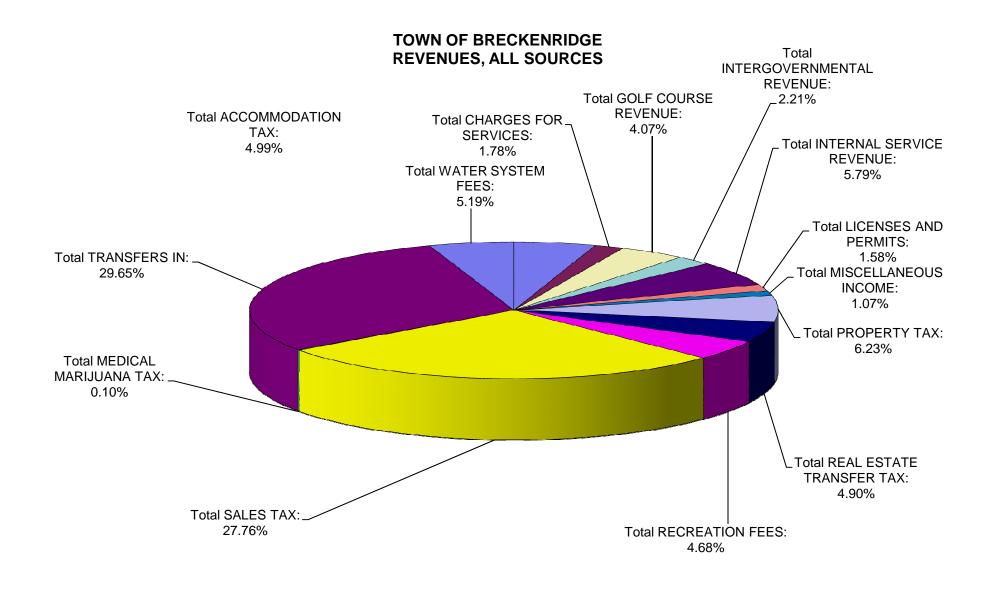

- 1. The Excise Fund pages and All Funds Summary pages have been updated to reflect this revenue.
- 2. The All Funds Summary pages have also been updated to reflect the full appropriation of the fund balances in the following funds: Housing, Open Space, Information Services, Facilities and Special Projects.
- 3. The Capital Fund summary page was updated to correct a transposition in the Transfer from Excise and Transfer from Conservation fund amounts.

The pages have been hole-punched and are meant to replace the previous versions in your 2012 budget binder.

MEMORANDUM

To: Mayor and Town Council From: Town Manager's Office Date: November 2, 2011

Subject: Council's Top 10 list status (as developed May, 2011)

- Riverwalk Center expansion of programming and business model Some experiments this past season w/AEG and other types of concerts. Continued discussions and work w/AEG. Continued discussions and collaborative efforts w/NRO and BMF on scheduling/useage issues.
 Capital expenses for some technical improvements being presented to you for separate
 - Capital expenses for some technical improvements being presented to you for separate discussion.
- 2) Amusement Tax scheduled for discussion at 11/9 retreat to determine readiness for April, 2012 election.
- 3) Old Harris Street Bldg (old CMC bldg) Design/development phase for future use as town hall included in proposed CIP. Other town-owned assets provided to council for consideration in future costs/offsets by possible sale of certain assets. Council wants more discussion on timing/readiness to proceed on this item.
- 4) Medical Marijuana Regulation and Tax enough said.
- 5) Plastic Bags This has actually evolved into our Sustainable Business plan that involves outreach to businesses in the community for several sustainability efforts, including the voluntary "giving up" of plastic bags. More detail coming to you on these efforts in separate discussion.
- 6) Summit Stage Stage representative, James Phelps, updates Council after all Stage meetings on survey, goals, and issues in this realm. Tim Gagen also updates Council regularly after mayors/managers discuss related issues. "Progress" is funding has been received for doing a comprehensive survey on what the Stage service should look like and/or what other alternatives there are to make county-wide transportation issues considered as a "whole", for workers and guests.

- 7) South Side Metro District Town's letter of support sent (not financial, but of conceptual idea). Support letter sent. No further action by organizing group, we think because there has been a staff change at the Village HOA and that person has not focused on this at this point.
- 8) Post Office no longer on the list for obvious reasons
- 9) Energy Policy/Carbon Action Plan approved by council earlier this year.
- 10) Carter Park Tubing Safety improvements made to the hill prior to the start of sledding for 2011-2012 season. Will continue to monitor and report back to council.

MEMO

Date: November 2, 2011 (for 11.9.11 meeting)
To: Mayor and Town Council Members

Cc: Town Manager, Assistant Town Manager

From: Riverwalk and Events Manager RE: Riverwalk Center Projection System

Background:

In May 2011, Town Council expressed interest in researching the possibility of installing a projection system in the Riverwalk Center to support current uses and expand potential uses. Film is relatively inexpensive way to put more programming into the facility and current facility use reflects the popularity of film with 4 film events in the Riverwalk Center in October and November 2011 alone. Currently users must rent projection systems which average $1,900.00 to rent and run, but can go as high as $2,800 depending on the system. Or users are bringing in their own smaller, substandard systems which are rendering poor results.

The Riverwalk is a unique environment with unique needs. In fact, it is a challenging environment to retrofit for film as I experienced when reaching to national companies for solutions and quotes. I also reached to the Speakeasy and to Colorado Mountain College regarding their experiences and what I found is that their solutions are very different than ours due to the physical environment and targeted applications. CMC recently replaced their projector due to changing needs (Met Opera broadcasts) and the Speakeasy is looking to upgrade their system to digital projection. Both are doing so to bring more business to their venues.

Challenges:

- The facility does not darken due to 2 clear stories (upper story windows), glass entrance doors and glass garage doors in the back of the facility. This results in films/any projection being most feasible when the facility is dark- around 5pm in the winter and around 8:45pm in the summer.
- There is currently no efficient and impactful way to acknowledge event sponsors on or near the stage. Currently, GOBOS ("go between optics") are utilized in our existing lighting. These are physical templates made of metal and placed in front of a lighting source. They are difficult to control and often result in a fuzzy image as you are unable to "focus" them.

- There is currently no way to display subtitles during orchestral concerts. Subtitles are intended to make classical shows more understandable and accessible to a broader audience hence increasing attendance.
- We do not currently have a projection booth which would serve to keep projector sound (fan) separated from the audience and which would also provide a cooled environment for a projector.

Project Scope and Costs:

Below are 3 approaches with various pros and cons and 1 enhancement. They are not listed in order of preference.

1^{st} approach-darken the facility with projector hung in the house or in a projection booth

Cost to darken the facility with a shade insta	llation - $160,000-$200,000
Projector*	- $ 30,000
Screen	-$ 7,700
Installation	-$ 19,000
Electrical	-$ 8,000
2 possible choices- no video booth or build	l a video booth to contain fan sound & control temp
Rigging (just hang in the house w/no booth)	-$ 400
Total without projection booth	-$225,100-$265,100
Projection booth	approx$ 65,000

*It is difficult to determine the exact projector and lumen requirements without first darkening the facility and taking some light measurements, but our vendor provided us with a budget for the projector based on their experience with other projects of this type.

-$289,700-$329,700

1st approach pros and cons-

Total with projection booth

- The cost to darken is quite high due mostly to the need for mechanized shades in the clear story and due to challenging shade applications such those needed for the garage doors. This would certainly allow the purchase a projector with lower lumens (less bright), but we would have concerns about the cost and potential impact on the aesthetics of the building.
- Darkening the facility would make the facility more versatile. There are frequently uses which are better complemented by a darkened facility including conference general sessions, film (more of a movie theater "vibe"), theatre and dance.
- System would work for subtitles and sponsor acknowledgement.
- The question of a projection booth is significant due to cost and potential impact on customer experience. Projector fans are fairly loud and projectors also tend to require a cool/air conditioned environment. Therefore, deciding to go without a booth may result in noise issues and potentially result in the projector overheating. A projection booth was in the original design of the building, but was removed due to budget.
- Having a projector installed and "ready to use" will reduce labor costs and allow for ease of use. This will result in the system being used more frequently than approach #3 where we would need to set up the projector and screen prior to each use.

2nd approach- projector hung in the house or in a projection booth without darkening

30,000 lumen projector	-$106,800
Screen	-$ 7,700
Installation	-$ 19,000
Electrical	-$ 8,000
2 possible choices- no video booth or build	d a video booth to contain fan sound & control temp
Rigging (just hang in the house w/no booth)) -$ 400
Total without projection booth	-$141,900
Projection booth	approx$ 65,000

Total with projection booth 2^{nd} approach pros and cons-

- We will be able to keep the current aesthetic feel of the facility.
- System would work for subtitles and sponsor acknowledgement.
- Lower cost than darkening the facility.
- A dark theatre adds to the ambience of a movie going experience so it is likely that we will still tend to show films when the facility is dark, but we will have the ability to show film/presentations/slide shows even when it is light in the facility- just without the theater "vibe".

-$206,500

- Again, the question of a projection booth is significant due to cost and potential impact on customer experience. Projector fans are fairly loud and projectors also tend to require a cool/air conditioned environment. Therefore, deciding to go without a booth may result in noise issues and potentially result in the projector overheating. A projection booth was in the original design of the building, but was removed due to budget.
- Having a projector installed and "ready to use" will reduce labor costs and allow for ease of use. This will result in the system being used more frequently than approach #3 where we would need to set up the projector and screen prior to each use.

3rd approach- rear projection with a screen which is temporarily built on stage for each use

Total	-$ 28,500
Screen with drape surround	-$ 3,500
15,000-20,000 lumen projector with special wide angle lens	-$ 25,000

3rd approach pros and cons-

- This is the most economical approach.
- This equipment is moveable and could potentially be used in other venues.
- Again, a dark theatre adds to the ambience of a movie going experience so it is likely that we will still tend to show films when the facility is dark, but we will have the ability to show film/presentations/slide shows even when it is light in the facility- just without the theater "vibe".
- The National Repertory Orchestra would like to use a projection system for film once a year during their summer season. This option could not be used for films while the orchestras are performing on stage because the screen would need to be set up in front the orchestra and we would need to project from behind the screen (rear projection) through the orchestra- physically impossible.

- This approach would not work for any BMF or NRO classical music subtitle applications and would not allow for sponsorship acknowledgment while we have performances on stage. The enhancement listed below would solve the issue of subtitles and sponsorship acknowledgment "on stage".
- There would be required labor to set up the screen each time- 3-4 people for 1.5 -2 hours.

Enhancement

Total	-$ 86,000
Lap top (controller/input)	-$ 2,000
Electrical	-$ 5,000
Installation	-$ 10,000
Mounting equipment	-$ 400
Two 23.6 x 23.6 LED screens	-$ 68,600

- Two LED screens hung to the right and left of the stage would allow acknowledgement of sponsors "on stage" in a professional format. Also, the screens could be used for subtitles for classical concerts and potentially for broadcasting video feed during popular music shows.
- Screens would be useable during the daylight hours.
- Screens would not be in the correct position or large enough to show film in a meaningful way.

Conclusion:

The addition of a projection system would certainly enhance the Riverwalk Center and create a more welcoming environment for film, conference general sessions, slide show lectures and any performances where visual aids are desirable. With the goal of drawing more programming at the Riverwalk Center in mind, we would likely be able to charge $200-$500 for the use of projection system based on the price lists of comparable venues. The value would really come from being able to draw more (and more diverse) uses to the Riverwalk Center and enhancing the experience for our guests once they are in the venue.
